Reflection.

As humans we tend to default to remember the negative, the positives more a distant memory.

There is nothing we can do to change the past but everything we can do changes the future, so can we acknowledge all that has worked well, the goals one has achieved, the happy occasions one has attended, the laughter that created your tears, the mountain one has climbed or the mile one has run.

One can never be quite sure just what is in store, today is different to yesterday, tomorrow we are not sure of yet.
So when a day has troubled you and the night is dark and long, lift up your fallen spirit for a new day will come with the dawn reminding you that God's help is near at hand.
