A Phádraig atá i bPárthas Mhic Dé inniu,
Faith áras dúinn ann, an áit a bhfeicimid thú.

This week we cry the tears of Christchurch people, the latest city to know the meaningless horror of hatred and brutality. We in Ireland for many years have known the same story of violence - and this week we remember the story of Bloody Sunday and the blood shed, Catholic and Protestant, on our own island. We now thankfully know a better placePatrick, taught us the Gospel of Christ, the Christ who asked us to love our enemies and pray for those who hurt us . "Forgive them for they know not what they do" ... may that prayer of Jesus be the only prayer on our lips this St. Patrick's Day.
